Born in St. Petersburg in 1892, Romain de Tiroff, known as Erté after the French pronunciation of his initials, was famous for his magazine covers and fashion designs for Harpers Bazaar, as well as exotic costumes and stage sets for theatres such as the Folies Bergère. He continued working in his unique Art Déco style until his death in 1990.

Né à St Petersburg en 1892, Romain de Tiroff, connu sous le nom de Erté d'après la prononciation française de ses initiales, était célèbre pour ses couvertures de magazines et dessins de mode pour Harpers Bazaar, mais aussi pour les costumes exotiques et les décors pour théâtres comme les Folies Bergère. Il a continué à travailler son style unique Art Déco jusqu'à sa mort en 1990.

Linger a Little Longer...

If all I saw from way up high
Was the sky that meets the sea
I would linger there and dance a while
And talk so long with thee

If all I found upon the ground were stones and insects small
I'd watch and wonder quietly
At the beauty of them all

Such little things, so marvellous
So why do we forget?
When all around are searching, catching nothing in their net.

The bliss of seeing further
Than where the sun holds up the sky
The calm of being connected
Gives you wings with which to fly
